

Elloughton-cum-Brough's best kept garden

Brough residents Diana and Alec Russell have been chosen as winners of this year's Front Garden of the Year competition.

The couple who live on King Edward Terrace were awarded the trophy following a vote by the panel of judges. Members of Elloughton-cum-Brough Town Council and the In Bloom committee spent the summer compiling a shortlist based on their observations around the town.

The competition is organised by the Town Council and runs every year over the summer.

Garden glory: Diana and Alec Russell receive the trophy shield from Councillor Tony Galbraith in their winning garden.

Food & Drink Festival exceeds expectations

The inaugural Elloughton-cum-Brough Food & Drink Festival took place in September at the Village Hall. The event was organised by the Petuaria Community Forum who hailed it a resounding success.

Gourmet muffins, local wine, jams and pickles were just a few of the treats on offer.

There were a dozen stalls representing a diverse selection of local food and drink producers. The event attracted a steady stream of visitors throughout the day.

Tony Galbraith, Chair of the Petuaria Community Forum was delighted with the turn out.

"Our motto is 'bringing people and business together' and that is just what happened," he declared. "Four of the twelve exhibitors were from Elloughton-cum-Brough and most were based within five miles of the Village Hall."

Stallholder Kevin Young of Marvellous Muffins said, "This was our most successful event so far!"

Elloughton-cum-Brough In Bloom is organising an Open Garden Event in 2018. If you would like to be involved in any capacity please call Coleen Gill on 666924.

Petuaria Revisited: Funding bid for February launch

Petuaria Revisited is a campaign supported by Elloughton-cum-Brough Town Council and residents which aims to launch a community heritage project around the Roman history of Brough.

The campaign has reached a crucial stage as final preparations are made to submit an application for £100,000 of National Lottery funding towards a total budget of £125,000. The balance will be provided by local businesses and organisations.

The main thrust of the project will involve an archaeological investigation of the Burrs playing field which is known to contain Roman remains. Excavations may also be carried out at other sites including nearby gardens with the cooperation of the owners.

The funding bid includes an estimate of costs and a detailed project plan scheduled over a three year period. The application now requires messages of support from local organisations prior its final submission in October. If successful the official launch of the project is expected in February 2018.

PETUARIA
COMMUNITY FORUM
BRINGING PEOPLE AND BUSINESS TOGETHER

Join in and get involved

The Petuaria Community Forum is calling for more local business people and members of local organisations to join up and get involved.

Membership is free and the group meets bi-monthly to discuss local issues and ways to improve and enhance the local community and environment. Meetings are open to all and details are announced on the group's website at <http://hu15online.co.uk> and the HU15 Online Facebook group.

The PCF was set up in 2015 with the aim of bringing together local businesses, residents and voluntary organisations for their mutual advantage and the advancement of the town's well-being. As well as the recent Food & Drink Festival the group organised a successful seminar earlier this year on dealing with the chafer bugs that plague so many local gardens.

Vandals sought after fire

A bench donated by the volunteers of Elloughton-cum-Brough In Bloom has been badly damaged after being set alight by vandals. The incident happened off Myrtle Way around 6pm on Monday 18th September. If you have information that may help catch the culprits please call the Police non-emergency number 101.

NEWS·IN·BRIEF

▶ Dog owners who update their pet's microchip details online are being warned to check that the website they are using is genuine after a number of bogus sites have been discovered. The bogus sites came to the attention of East Riding of Yorkshire Council's dog warden team after they issued a notice to a dog owner whose microchip details were out of date. The owner informed the dog wardens they had paid around £15 to update the details via a website found online via a search engine. The information has been passed to ERYC's trading standards team.

▶ Schools in the East Riding are celebrating their best ever GCSE results, despite major changes in the grading system and tougher exams. New number grades have replaced letters in English and maths. South Hunsley School did particularly well, consistently appearing in first or second position in a table of results from East Riding schools.

▶ Humber Enterprise Park has been shortlisted for the Constructing Excellence in Yorkshire & Humber Awards 2017 in the Buildings Project of the Year category. HEP is the result of a £6m regeneration project on the former BAE Systems site completed in June 2016. The project involved refurbishment of five empty office buildings covering 4,930m².

▶ Local musicians and music lovers have the opportunity to join in with others at an open mic and jam night every Sunday at the Ferry Inn, Brough. The musicians' night was established several years ago but changes in pub management have seen the event rescheduled to different nights of the week which has adversely affected attendance. With a new regular Sunday night spot the group hopes to attract newcomers who will be made welcome whether they wish to stand up and perform, join in from the sidelines or just listen.

▶ Elloughton-cum-Brough In Bloom has won a Silver Gilt award following the summer judging in July. Judges applauded the recording and relocating of wildflowers in advance of the Brough South construction work. The group was also praised for the painting and cleaning of street furniture, especially around the cenotaph and Elloughton crossroads. To get involved contact Coleen Gill on 666924.

Fund-raising is fun for Morrisons staff

Morrisons supermarket in Brough held a fun day in aid of children's cancer charity CLIC Sargent.

The event was the culmination of a carnival-themed week of activity during which staff wore bright colours and dressed the store with banners and balloons. Activities included a raffle and tombola, lucky dip, football games and a colouring competition.

Parents and children were delighted to be greeted by Marshall from Paw Patrol and Spiderman who gave out sweets to shoppers.

Morrisons Community Champion Andrea Richardson said, "It was a really great day. We had lots of support from our community."

Staff and customers raised

£300 in total which will go a long way towards the store's annual fund-raising target of £2,500. Ms Richardson added, "We love getting involved with the community. Events like this make my role even better!"

Pre school closes after 35 years

The long running Stockbridge Pre School closed in June following the retirement of founding teacher Mrs Sue Shipp.

Sue Shipp opened the pre school in 1983 with Sue Larard. Over the years several parents and teachers have helped out. More than 700 local children have passed through its doors including two generations of one family and six of Mrs Shipp's own grandchildren.

Sue ran the pre school from St Mary's Church Hall in Elloughton. Her retirement and the school's closure were marked by a farewell event in September, attended by pupils and teachers past and present. A display of photographs spanning the 35 years provided them with plenty of reminiscences and opportunities to remember who they had been to 'Mrs Shipp's' with!

Two Emmas have no regrets

Emma Bates of Rainbow Lodge in Brough took part in the North West Tough Mudder Half Challenge – a gruelling event taking in 13 obstacles over a muddy five mile course.

As part of the ten strong team 'No Regrets' she was raising money for the Cystic Fibrosis Trust in support of daughter Betsy who suffers from the condition.

She was joined by friend Emma Booth who was raising funds for CLAPA, the Cleft Lip and Palate Association. Her son Ted was born with a cleft palate in 2016.

Local charity is downright delighted

Local charity Downright Special has received £9,980 from the Morrisons Foundation after Community Champion Andrea Richardson at the Brough store applied for a grant on their behalf.

Andrea had been on the look out for an organisation that was close to the community. She submitted the application after Downright Special fund-raisers asked her for a raffle prize donation. "I'd been looking for a charity that was close to our local community and I just knew this was the one," she said.

Andrea continued, "When we heard that we had got the full amount I was elated. I knew it would mean so much for what is a fantastic cause. I couldn't wait to tell them and arrange the official presentation!"

Downright Special provides support for families in Hull and East Yorkshire with children who have Down Syndrome. The Morrisons Foundation award will enable them to support four new families for a whole year. The money will fund training for special teaching assistants and creative soft play sessions for children who otherwise would not have received this help.

Downright Special Charity Manager Gillian Bowlas and her daughter Rachel, along with chair of the charity Angela Broekhuizen, Community Champion Andrea and customer services manager Brett Silburn.

The Morrisons Foundation was set up in 2012 and has donated over £100,000 to charitable causes. Any registered charity can apply for a grant via the Morrisons website or through the Community Champion at their local store.

Harry Shepherd from Elloughton was reunited with his expedition team mates at Edinburgh's Palace of Holyrood House when he was presented his Gold Duke of Edinburgh Award in July.

The award presentation was particularly special as it was the last to be hosted by HRH Prince Philip, The Duke of Edinburgh, before his retirement from official duties.

The Duke of Edinburgh Award scheme was founded in 1956 and since then six million people have taken part with 2.7 million awards being presented. Participants have to complete a gruelling expedition as well as other challenges based on acquiring skills, fitness and volunteering in the community.

Local boy Harry was one of 350 Gold DofE Award recipients to attend the presentation for youth achievement. Guests were entertained by the Band of Her Majesty's Royal Marines Scotland before HRH The Duke of Edinburgh walked through the palace gardens chatting to award winners. It was a very proud moment for Harry and his parents.
